

Team Members: Alejandro Batres, Devin Zhu

Alejandro was mainly responsible for creating the HTML templates for the web pages and worked on creating the front end. Devin was mainly responsible for creating the database queries and use cases in the app.py page. Both of us worked closely together to make sure that the use cases worked with the web pages. We worked together on one repository on Github and periodically made changes to the use cases and components.